Potential Street Design
What might new streets look like? What will be considered?

ACHD will utilize the Draft Livable Street Design Guide which outlines how transportation systems fit into the communities which they serve.

Streets can accommodate community needs such as pathways and pedestrian options.

The local jurisdiction can be expected to help define streetscape standards.

Streets can interact with the natural environment.

Guidelines for street typologies are not final design requirements, but provide a basis for expectations for future construction of roads.

Landscaping treatments on future roads depend largely on construction funding and future maintenance costs.

The streets depicted in these photos may not represent actual design of streets in the foothills. The roadway cross-sections will be determined by the City of Eagle and ACHD through the Transportation and Land Use Integration Plan (TLIP) process.